

Teen Depression

Depression Risks

Untreated depression is an intense feeling of sadness, hopelessness, anger or frustration that is long lasting; such as for weeks, months, or longer.

- Big transitions in life
- Stress, or changes in the body's chemicals that affect thoughts and mood
- Hereditary

Ways to Help

- Family support
- Peer support
- Daily exercise
- Good sleep habits
- Spending time outside in nature and in the sun
- Eating healthy foods.
- Utilizing relaxation techniques

Listen to the threats

- Threats: Children and adolescents who are depressed may say they want to be dead or may talk about suicide.
- Alcohol Drug abuse: Depressed adolescents may abuse alcohol or other drugs as a way of trying to feel better.
- Behavior: Teens who are acting out at home or school may be suffering from depression.

Signs and Symptoms

Seek help if these symptoms last more than 2 weeks:

- Sadness, emptiness, hopelessness
- Angry, cranky, or frustrated, even at minor things
- Uninterested in activities they used to enjoy
- Change in appetite or weight
- Trouble falling asleep or staying asleep, or sleep much more than usual
- Feeling worthless or very guilty
- Have trouble concentrating, remembering information, or making decisions
- Social isolation, poor communication, or difficulty with relationships
- Extremely sensitive to rejection or failure
- Thoughts about dying or suicide, or attempting suicide

8% of children and adolescents suffer from depression at any given point in time.

Protect your teen from the risks of Guns:

- Store guns unloaded, uncocked and locked in a gun safe or lock box. Only parents should know where the gun is kept.
- Store and lock bullets in a separate place from the guns.
- Avoid devices that use keys--teens often know where they are.
- When your teen goes to a friend's home, ask if there is a gun in the home and how it's stored.
- Talk about the risk of guns.
